

56, CHESTER SQUARE.

S.W.

May 4. 1888.

Dear Mr. Grieg

I cannot refrain from writing you a few lines of heart-felt thanks for the great pleasure you gave us last night. It was more than pleasure

it was the purest & highest form of happiness, & I feel we all owe you such a huge debt of gratitude.

I hope you were satisfied with your reception & you did not think us a very cold & unsympathetic audience, & not an entirely un-musical nation. Certainly your works evoked me enthusiasm as few other works have, & it has only made me (& others

too) long to hear them
again & again.

I hope it is not true
that you are leaving

England tomorrow?

Please give Madame Grieg
my warmest greetings, & tell her how much I hope to see her again.

Once more thanking you
from my very heart

Believe me
yours most truly

Adela Wodehouse.
